I Rescued A Human Today

I rescued a human today.

Her eyes met mine as she walked down the corridor peering apprehensively into the kennels. I felt her need instantly and knew I had to help her. I wagged my tail, not too exuberantly, so she wouldn't be afraid.

As she stopped at my kennel I blocked her view from a little accident I had in the back of my cage. I didn't want her to know that I hadn't been walked today. Sometimes the shelter keepers get too busy and I didn't want her to think poorly of them.

As she read my kennel card I hoped that she wouldn't feel sad about my past. I only have the future to look forward to and want to make a difference in someone's life.

She got down on her knees and made little kissy sounds at me. I shoved my shoulder and side of my head up against the bars to comfort her. Gentle fingertips caressed my neck; she was desperate for companionship.

A tear fell down her cheek and I raised my paw to assure her that all would be well.

Soon my kennel door opened and her smile was so bright that I instantly jumped into her arms. I would promise to keep her safe. I would promise to always be by her side. I would promise to do everything I could to see that radiant smile and sparkle in her eyes. I was so fortunate that she came down my corridor. So many more are out there who haven't walked the corridors. So many more to be saved. At least I could save one.

I rescued a human today.

Good Deeds

This is Cupid, Love-a-Bull's latest rescue Bullie:

Even though Cupid has a rather unusual name, it really seems to suit him. Cupid is a very loving and happy dog. Although Cupid doesn't use arrows, he does like to "hit home" his message of spreading the love. Cupid has an interesting method of showing affection when he is really happy. He likes to bang up against a person's knees to let you know he likes you, so you need to pay attention when Cupid is excited and wants some petting. When Cupid is excited to see someone he does a funny little shimmy when he walks. If you ask him if he is "doin' the hula", he wiggles his rear even more, so much that he practically vibrates. Cupid is pretty entertaining, but is not a hyper Bullie. He doesn't jump up on people and will sit when asked and once he settles down, he is quite gentleman. He is happy to sleep in his crate on his big pillow when he gets sleepy, but he sure can snore.

Cupid loves playing with his big Jolly Ball out in the yard, but once inside his favorite pastime seems to be sucking on his favorite stuffed toys. Surprisingly, he never seems to destroy them. Cupid often falls asleep with a stuffed toy in his mouth. Here's Cupid doing just that.

Cupid gets along great with other dogs. When he was at the vet clinic, he pushed open the exam room door and quickly gave a German Shepherd a kiss before he was pulled back into the room. I'm pretty sure what I saw on that dog's face was shocked surprise. I don't think he knew what "hit" him, but I think that was just Cupid slinging a little arrow of love his way.

Cupid is three years old and is a big boy at seventy pounds, but he is definitely all Bulldog. Cupid comes from North Dakota. Because there are no BCARN volunteers in North Dakota, his owner had to bring him to Minnesota to rehome him. Cupid's former owner is a recent widow who used to be home a lot with Cupid, but now works full-time and has other activities outside the home which she felt were keeping her from giving Cupid the attention she felt he deserved.

Before Cupid can go to his new home a lump on his shoulder has to be removed. He also tested positive for Lyme Disease, so he is on medication for three weeks to clear that up. Once he has healed from his surgery, he will be able to go to a new home. Love-a-Bull MN Bulldog Rescue is confident that we can find Cupid a great family. With a personality like his, Cupid should manage to get a few "love arrows" to hit the mark. Someone is sure to fall in love with him and he will soon be on his way to his "forever home". Cupid says, "Aint nobody stealing my stuffie!"
